Re: 2018-FOIA-07224

Dear Mr. Leopold,

This is the final response to your Freedom of Information Act (“FOIA”) request to the Executive Office of the Mayor (“EOM”). Specifically you requested:

1. All emails, memos, letters, studies, budget reports, budgets, cost analysis, mentioning or referring to a military parade President Donald Trump had said he wanted to hold in Washington DC.
2. All emails, letters, memos, the Executive Office of the Mayor exchanged with the White House, the Department of Defense, the Department of Homeland Security, Secret Service, Washington DC City Council, federal and local law enforcement, and any other government agency, mentioning or referring to the military parade President Donald Trump wanted to hold in Washington DC.
3. All emails mentioning or referring to an August 17, 2018 tweet by Donald Trump that stated: https://twitter.com/realDonaldTrump/status/1030423480725118976?ref\_src=twsrc%5Etfw%7Ctwcamp%5Etweetembed%7Ctwterm%5E1030437239384403968&ref\_url=https%3A%2F%2Fdeadline.com%2F2018%2F08%2Fdonald-trump-slammed-washington-mayor-military-parade-cancel-claims-1202447464%2F

Records were searched for a date range of January 1 to September 4, 2018.

Documents responsive to your request have been sent via the FOIA Portal. I have determined that documents and portions of documents should be withheld pursuant to:

1. D.C. Official Code § 2-534(a)(2) – “Information of a personal nature where the public disclosure thereof would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.”

2. D.C. Official Code § 2-534(a)(4) – “Inter-agency or intra-agency memorandums or letters, including memorandums or letters generated or received by the staff or members of the Council, which would not be available by law to a party other than a public body in litigation with the public body.”

Please know that, under D.C. Official Code § 2-537 and 1 DCMR 412, you have the right to appeal this letter to the Mayor or to the Superior Court of the District of Columbia. If you elect to appeal to the Mayor, your appeal must be in writing and contain “Freedom of Information Act Appeal” or “FOIA Appeal” in the subject line of the letter as well as on the outside of the envelope. The appeal must include (1) a copy of the original request; (2) a copy of any written denial; (3) a statement of the circumstances, reasons, and/or arguments advanced in support of disclosure; and (4) a daytime telephone number, and e-mail and/or U.S. Mail address at which you can be reached. The appeal must be mailed to: The Mayor’s Office of Legal Counsel, FOIA Appeal, 1350 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW, Suite 407, Washington, DC 20004. Electronic versions of the same information can instead be e-mailed to foia.appeals@dc.gov. Further, a copy of all appeal materials must be forwarded to the Freedom of Information Officer of the involved agency or to the agency head of that agency if there is no designated Freedom of Information Officer there. Failure to follow these administrative steps will result in delay in the processing and commencement of a response to your appeal to the Mayor.

Sincerely,

Erika Satterlee
Associate Director
FOIA Officer, Executive Office of the Mayor

Does Mayor Bowser have any comment on the White House's reported planning of a military parade in DC? Would the city cooperate in planning such an event?

Tomás,

Since I am getting closer to my due date (about a month away), would it be possible to add Anthony Crispino to the OFRA Daily update emails?

In addition, I have been trying to hunt down the FY19 FSGG Bill referenced in Friday's Daily Update, but have been having a hard time. Do you have a copy or a link? Did the EPSF number stay the same?

In addition to discussing the good news, I wanted to flag an event that the Director is going to next week for you. On Wednesday, May 30, the Executive Office of the President is hosting the Improved Information Sharing for Whole Community Disaster Response workshop to provide an opportunity for government, industry, and academia to discuss lessons learned during last year's hurricane season, highlighting opportunities to improve information sharing for planning, response, and recovery for the upcoming season. The workshop will take place from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. in The White House complex. Director Rodriguez and our Assistant Director for Intelligence, Chris White, will be attending to represent HSEMA.

Please let me know if you need any additional information.

Good afternoon,

This interview just ended a few minutes ago:

*New* Patrick Madden from WAMU conducted a phone interview Director Rodriguez of HSEMA at 4:00 pm regarding the proposed military parade and its impact on the District. Director Rodriguez noted that, while the organizers have submitted a permit to MPD, we do not have many details on the proposed parade. The Director also noted that the parade would require significant District resources, personnel and planning. The story is expected to air this afternoon/evening.

Hi Susana - We'd like to ask you a few questions about the city's response to the news that a military parade will be held through downtown Washington in November. Although the announcement has been made that it will not involve tanks, it will involve a large number of heavy trucks. Do these still have the potential to do damage to the city's streets? Please let me know if there is a good time when I could give you a call.

Thanks so much,

I am deeply disturbed by this possibility. As the article notes, grand military parades are “something you see in a totalitarian country — unless there’s a genuine, earnest reason to be doing it”.

In addition, District residents have repeatedly expressed strong support for gun control and other efforts that do not align with a showing of military force in our city.

Can you please do everything in your power to stop such a parade from being held in the District? The District is its own jurisdiction and we - either residents or our elected officials as you yourself are - should have the final say on whether such a spectacle are held on our city's streets.

Transcript

Question: What do you make of what you have heard so far and what do you think about the parade?

MMB: We have not gotten anything official, so we will have to wait and see. DC has of course promoted many national events -- I don't know when they how they're going to promote it or when they're going to suggest it -- but we will always be concerned with [the parade's] impact on the city, the impact on safety, pulling personnel, and our roadways, and the attention it would attract.

Question: I have heard about the possibility of running an M1 Abram's tank up Penn Ave. If you ran a tract tank down the payment, who would be responsible for fixing the damage?

MMB: I think most people are concerned with the obstacle that it would create and what it would suggest about our country and the direction our country is moving in -- and I think that would be the first objection of DC residents.

Question: You think the optics of this are pretty bad?

MMB: We are looking to see if anything like this has ever happened in the District, and usually when you see big military parades it's to celebrate the end of a war, and I don't believe that's been announced.

Mulvaney on canceled military parade: It wasn't just the money

Office of Management and Budget director Mick Mulvaney said he believes President Donald Trump's plans for a military parade were canceled for other reasons besides the cost of the event, but would not specify other "contributing factors."

During an interview on “Fox News Sunday,” Mulvaney said he was not in the room when the decision was made to cancel the parade, as he said he would have been had the cancelation been done “purely for fiscal reasons.”

“If the parade had been canceled purely for fiscal reasons, I imagine I would have been in the room when that was made, and I wasn’t,” he said. “So my guess is there were other contributing factors.”

Trump on Friday blamed local politicians, such as Washington Mayor Muriel Bowser, for the parade’s cancelation, saying they “wanted a number so ridiculously high” that he was forced to hold off on the event.

The president’s tweet came after CNBC reported Thursday that the expected cost of Trump’s planned parade was $92 million, which was much higher than previous estimates of $12 million and $30 million. After the CNBC report, the Pentagon announced the parade had been postponed but did not offer an explanation for the change of plans.

The parade was initially ordered last year to be held this year on Veterans Day in Washington, to coincide with the 100th anniversary of the end of World War I.

Bowser on Friday pushed back that the White House was unwilling to accept the anticipated costs of the parade. The figure she tweeted was $21.6 million.

Mulvaney, who also oversees the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, said during his interview that he thinks Bowser “seems like a nice lady” but added that he doesn’t think the D.C. City Council wants to help Trump.

“This is a city that voted 70 or 80 percent against the president,” Mulvaney said. “So I think maybe the City Council of Washington, D.C., is not trying to help the president accomplish what he wants to accomplish shouldn’t be news to anybody.”

“If the $20 million you just mentioned is a number ... that’s a number that I’m not familiar with,” he continued. “The numbers that I saw from the city were much higher than that.”

The controversial military parade ordered by President Donald Trump originally scheduled for Veterans Day will be delayed until 2019, the Pentagon announced Thursday night.

The Defense Department, which first planned the parade for November to coincide with Veterans Day weekend and the 100th anniversary of the end of World War I, did not give a reason for abrupt change of plan, simply issuing a statement that said it has "agreed to explore opportunities in 2019."

The announcement came only hours after a report by CNBC that the estimated cost of the parade is now as much as $92 million — far more than previous estimates of between $12 million and $30 million.

Trump originally asked for the military to organize such an event after seeing similar demonstrations on Bastille Day in France, but lawmakers on both sides of the aisle criticized the pomp and circumstance as reminiscent of authoritarian regimes.

The parade is expected to include marching troops from different branches as well as a "heavy air component" of modern and historic war planes, the Pentagon said in March. But it will not include some of the heaviest military hardware like tanks to avoid damaging roads between the White House and the Capitol like the last one in 1991 after the Persian Gulf War.

The White House did not immediately respond to a request for comment.

Subject: Military Parade Update
Attachments: image001.png

Today, The House Armed Services Committee is holding a markup of HR. 5515 – National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019.

The NDAA includes language that will authorize the military parade. The tentative date is Nov. 11.

The military parade itself wasn't debated, but a proposal by Marc Veasey (D-TX) that would have excluded currently operational military equipment was rejected.

Chairman's View:

Honoring Those Who Have Served

As America approaches the 100th anniversary of the Armistice which ended World War I, Chairman Thornberry's Proposal looks back on a century of military service and focuses on the men and women who sacrificed to secure America's freedoms. Those sacrifices eventually built and secured a world order that raised living standards around the globe, gave millions a greater say in their government, and prevented another global conflict in the last seventy-three years. However, this global order is increasingly under threat from competitors like Russia and China. At the same time, far too many American veterans and their families believe their sacrifices have not been given the public recognition that they deserve. Chairman Thornberry agrees with President Trump that it is appropriate to honor and celebrate 100 years of patriotic sacrifice in a way that expresses appreciation and admiration for our men and women in uniform, including a parade in the nation's capital and a national celebration for that purpose. Chairman Thornberry also recognizes that our strength is and always has been in our people. To ensure that veterans and those currently serving remain the focus of any parade and that efforts to restore readiness are not slowed, the Chairman's Proposal prohibits the use of operational units or equipment in the parade if the Secretary of Defense believes such use will hamper readiness. For too long our men and women in uniform have been victims of political discord. Honoring those who have served our nation over the past 100 years, including those who served in Korea, Vietnam, Iraq, and Afghanistan, should not be a political matter. Veterans of those conflicts did not let politics stand in the way of their service to the country. No political interest or concern should stand in the way of expressing the country's gratitude and respect.

Other highlights:

Guns

Improves crime reporting by requiring DOD to establish a centralized oversight system to ensure criminal data is transmitted to the FBI database preventing the purchase of a firearm.

Opioids

Requires the Department of Defense to establish a prescription drug monitoring program and share information with state prescription drug monitoring programs in order prevent opioid abuse within the military.

Norton to Fight Amendment to Sell Washington Aqueduct Land at Today's Committee Vote as an Affront to Ratepayers in D.C. and Virginia and the Army Corps of Engineers

Washington, DC – Congresswoman Eleanor Holmes Norton (D-DC) said that she was outraged by an amendment filed Tuesday by Representative Daniel Webster (R-FL) to the House Water Resources Development Act of 2018 (WRDA) that would authorize the Secretary of the Army to sell Washington Aqueduct land to Sibley Memorial Hospital in violation of federal rules on competition and consultation with stakeholders. The amendment, which authorizes the Secretary to sell to Sibley “the real property of any parcel of land, constituting any number of acres, of the Washington Aqueduct property in the District of Columbia that is adjacent to” the hospital's property. The amendment is so poorly drafted that it is unclear whether it authorizes the transfer of empty parcels of land or of the aqueduct itself. Norton said she would oppose the amendment on behalf of ratepayers in the District and Virginia, as well as the Army Corps of Engineers. The Aqueduct is federally-owned and operated. The first Norton learned of the amendment, or even the subject matter contemplated by the amendment, was when it was filed. On Tuesday evening, Norton's staff contacted Webster's staff and was informed that the intent of the amendment is to transfer empty parcels of land for Sibley's expansion. The Transportation and Infrastructure Committee, on which Norton and Webster serve, will mark up WRDA today, Wednesday, May 23, 2018 at 10:00 a.m. in 2167 Rayburn House Office Building.

Norton will raise several objections to the Webster amendment at today's markup. No federal or local officials representing the jurisdictions that get drinking water from the aqueduct—the District, Arlington County, Virginia, and the City of Falls Church, Virginia—were consulted on the amendment. The Army Corps was not consulted on the amendment. Further, Norton said that the amendment may violate the House's ban on earmarks, by directing the sale of federal land to a private entity without the required competitive bidding to ensure the federal government gets full-market value. Norton said it was also particularly concerning that this amendment was even proposed without full vetting by the Army Corps to ensure it would not affect the operations of the Aqueduct, which provides drinking water to ratepayers, including the White House, federal facilities, and D.C.-area residents and businesses.

Norton Defeats Amendment to Sell Washington Aqueduct Land at Committee Markup, Will Continue to Fight It

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Congresswoman Eleanor Holmes Norton (D-DC) today got Representative Daniel Webster (R-FL) to withdraw his amendment to the House Water Resources Development Act of 2018 (WRDA) that would authorize the Secretary of the Army to sell Washington Aqueduct land to Sibley Memorial Hospital. Norton forcefully objected to Webster’s amendment for violating federal rules on competition and for failing to consult with local and federal stakeholders, including her. The amendment would have authorized the Secretary to sell to Sibley “the real property of any parcel of land, constituting any number of acres, of the Washington Aqueduct property in the District of Columbia that is adjacent to” the hospital’s property. The Transportation and Infrastructure Committee, on which Norton and Webster serve, today marked up and passed WRDA.

“I am used to doing battle with Republicans on D.C.’s appropriations and on the House floor, but this time I had to do it overnight after this amendment was filed late yesterday and before it was even formally considered in committee,” Norton said. “We accurately forecast the fight we were prepared to wage. There is a reason Congress insists on appropriate vetting—it is the only way to avoid unintended mistakes. Yet, Representative Webster, who has no connection to the District of Columbia, drafted his amendment without consultation with any federal or local officials, or even the Army Corps. Fortunately, this is not how our committee or the federal government operates. Directing the sale of federal land to a private entity without the required competitive bidding would have robbed the federal government of receiving full-market value. I will continue to fight this attempted earmark to ensure that this amendment does not return.”

Thanks. With the inauguration, the federal government has to reimburse the city for the costs of city services associated with it, right? I have a vague recollection of a delay in federal reimbursement for the inauguration or some other federal event in the city...

Hi Fenit - here's our response which you can attribute to me:

"We're tracking media reports about the proposed parade and will have more to say when formal outreach begins. In the meantime, we do know that just like the wall, he will have to pay for it."

Good morning!

I'm going to do a follow up on local reactions to Trump's military parade idea. I see the Council is now panning it, what does the mayor have to say about the idea? Would the mayor or someone else in admin hop on the phone about this?

And on technical notes,

- 1) Would the city need to approve a parade like this or can the federal government do it unilaterally?
- 2) When was the last time Pennsylvania Avenue was repaved and at what cost?

-Fenit

Statement on President Trump's Planned Military Parade

(WASHINGTON, DC) – Today, Mayor Muriel Bowser issued the statement below regarding President Trump's planned military parade.

Statement from Mayor Bowser:

"The District has a long history of hosting parades, protests, and demonstrations including National Special Security Events. We have always done so professionally, fairly, and efficiently. That has and will continue to be the case. As the District has shown as recently as this past weekend, we can execute these events even under the toughest of circumstances. Any statement to the contrary is an affront to those who safely host events in our nation's capital each and every day, including our first responders."

John, this is the other notification I was thinking of. The NDAA was passed to authorize the SecDef to spend on a military parade. This was in the press shortly thereafter, with Mattis commenting on it that the parade would proceed. This was on July 23.

FYI: Re the military parade

Yesterday, the Compromise Committee for the National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA) released their compromise bill , which included authorizing language a military parade in DC . The House and Senate are expected to do a final passage of the bill before October.	The bill allows the Defense Secretary to expend funds for small arms and munitions appropriate for customary ceremonial duties and for the participation of military units that perform customary ceremonial duties . Tanks are not customary ceremonial duties.

Hi Leo,

We've consulted with the Mayor's Office of Veteran Affairs (MOVA), and learned that we have not hosted a Veterans Day parade. Generally, there are a number of small events taking place in town. Last year, the MOVA organized a Veterans Day of Service on Veterans Day. We had several Veteran Service Organizations, community partners, and volunteers (over 200 total individuals) come together for a community service project. We plan to do something similar again this year.

Please let us know if you have any follow up questions.

Many Thanks!

Reaching out to you because our paper has been covering the ongoing questions about the president's plans for a big military parade this fall. In a memo last week, the White House said the event "will integrate with the annual DC Veterans Day Parade."

Quick question -- is there a DC Veterans Day parade? I think there is a big Memorial Day parade and I know there are quite a few events around town to honor veterans in November. But I don't remember there being an official Vets Day parade in the past.

Just making sure I'm not overlooking the event or upcoming plans. Any help would be appreciated.

Our statement regarding the expansion of our clear routes efforts to all special events. This was in place already for larger events like July 4th

The Metropolitan Police Department is responsible for ensuring the safety of everyone who attends special events held in the city. With the advent of vehicle attacks that we have seen in the United States and around the world there is a necessity to implement parking restrictions which include removing all vehicles along special event routes, particularly during races and parades. We understand that this measure can be inconvenient for some residents and visitors, but we are convinced it is the best practice for protecting citizens from being injured or killed. The goal is to ensure the safety and security of special event participants, spectators, residents, and visitors in Washington, DC.

I have asked for the pedestrian death totals....will let you know

Latoya,

I am working on three stories:

- The new GHSA report on pedestrian fatalities indicates the District saw a significant increase in pedestrian fatalities in the first six months of 2017 (7)—compared to the first six months of 2016 (3). The report works with preliminary information, but if it is any indication of a trend in the District, it is not good news. The GHSA study notes that the states that legalized marijuana use saw an increase in pedestrian fatalities. There has been news reports about this. My story will not focus on that, but may mention it. I would like to discuss what the data tells about the city's mission to reducing traffic deaths. Is it a setback to the mayor's vision zero goal? Does it indicate that more people are walking/biking in the city? What is the mayor's response to the data? Does she think the city is on track to zero deaths by 2024? What is the city doing to reach that goal and prevent an upward trend in pedestrian deaths?
Report: https://www.ghsa.org/sites/default/files/2018-03/pedestrians\_18.pdf
- What is the mayor's stance on the new MPD policy regarding parking along events such as parade and race routes? Residents and some elected officials don't seem to happy with the new policy, which limits parking on residential communities during events. (For a follow up to this piece. https://www.washingtonpost.com/news/dr-gridlock/wp/2018/02/27/nations-capital-overhauls-parking-restrictions-to-guard-against-terror-attacks/?utm\_term=.145db0e0b4e6
- A second item am pursuing is about President Trump's call for a military parade. I am talking to experts, transportation official's and city leaders about what a military parade would look like in the city, and what impacts it would have on the city transportation network. DDOT tells me the agency doesn't have planning underway because there hasn't been a formal request made. But I am your office can provide some insight about the logistical and financial aspects of hosting such event and what sort of planning it would require and why it would be such a trouble for the District. (Impacts on DC roadways, transit and residents? How much planning goes into preparing for an event like this? How many months of planning? How much in $$$ is spent on similar events (inauguration? Independence Day? Pope's visit? We know we experience tons of events here, and somewhat folks get used to them, but has the city looked at any challenges particularly associated with a military parade?)

I am working on the pedestrian deaths story this week and need to file by Friday.

The parking folo is for the web and I am planning to follow up this week.

I have more time on the military parade piece. I am happy to talk with someone on background for it, but also want something on record and can do a call later this week or early next week.

Thanks much.

Luz

With parade authorization included in the NDAA, we were wondering if an official date has been set for the event, and if so, will DOD be reaching out to the city to begin coordination? Thank you! And again, thanks for all your help with the Ethiopian PM visit.

Hi Jenny,

I am free at 1PM and am happy to join the meeting.

As for the parade, the authorizing language for the parade is included in the House version of the NDAA, but not the Senate. When they release the conference report we will know if the final authorization is included. This is being released today, so I may have an update by 1PM if released before.
